

Do not use float for layout

CSS Property `float`

- used to float an image so text can flow around it
- NOT to be used for layout

But why not?

Floating elements for layout has unexpected side-effects

- removes elements from document flow
- parent elements will collapse to height:0 if no children in doc flow

Fixes exist, but

- You are using float in a way not intended
- Better alternatives exist